The 2010 Basketball Eye and Winning Ways Pro International events will create a revolutionary system for aspiring and current professional players. Players will experience 3 day camps that feature sports performance training, pro drill sets training, and game competition. "Teaming up with Basketball Eye has been a spring board in optimizing opportunities and exposure for the players attending our events." says Barry Mestel, President and CEO of Winning Ways Pro International. "We have broadened our scope of contacts to reach every country in the world and to offer the premier pro events throughout North America."

For attending a pro combine, each player will receive a thorough evaluation and profile that will be posted on the Winning Ways Pro International website for at least 12 months and a 1 year membership to basketballeye.com. Players will also receive the game film from the combine they attended posted on basketballeye.com. Now players will instantly be able to share their up to date game film with professional basketball representative from around the world.
